

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This document provides updates to the comprehensive 2021 Community Assessment Update that focuses on the northern New Jersey communities where HOPES Community Action Partnership Incorporated (HOPES CAP, Inc.) provides various educational and socioeconomic empowerment services, including Hudson County, Somerset County, and the City of Plainfield in Union County. The purpose of this document is to provide an update to the comprehensive Community Assessment for the entirety of the organization's service area, as required of recipients of Head Start and Community Services Block Grant funding. All data provided is sourced from the United States Census Bureau's 2020 and 2021 American Community Survey (ACS), 5-Year Estimates, unless otherwise cited. As displayed in the data attached to this document, the Community Assessment compares 2020 ACS/2021 ACS data from the United States Census Bureau in order to measure and evaluate demographic, social, economic, and housing trends within the communities served by HOPES.

Recommendations

Expand Recruitment in Nontraditional Service Areas: In the 2022 assessment update, it was noted that most Somerset County household in need were concentrated in a small number of communities, including Bound Brook, Franklin, North Plainfield, and South Bound Brook, and to a lesser extent, Hillsborough, and Manville. Data from the 2023 update now fully confirms Hillsborough and Manville as areas of high need, and include communities such as Branchburg, Green Brook, and Warren as places to advertise services. Also, communities such as Far Hills, Peapack and Gladstone, and Rocky Hill, are reversing trend and seemingly welcoming in a more affluent population. While need throughout Hudson County and Plainfield is well pronounced, however, there are significant demographic shifts occurring in Somerset County, and HOPES should work to identify families in need, particularly households with immigrants, limited English proficiency, lack of citizenship, low educational attainment, and/or other indicators. It would be beneficial to continue to review outreach strategies to identify gaps in the ability to connect with these communities and locate families in need. This is especially true as assessment data shows rising unemployment, rising rents, and other economic indicators that portend a higher level of need in the coming years.

Don't Overlook the Traditional Service Areas: Although there are areas of growing need, especially in Somerset County, the traditional target areas of Bound Brook, Franklin, Hillsborough, Manville, North Plainfield, and South Bound Brook have a significant and growing need for support, particularly among low-income, immigrant, and/or limited English proficient communities. The 2023 assessment data also shows rising need in two traditional service areas: Hoboken and Plainfield. In these communities, there are more immigrants, limited English proficient and/or minority households, single parents, grandparents responsible for their grandchildren, and other indicators of growing need for families of young children. HOPES should review outreach strategies in these primary service areas to identify new methods for locating families in need.

Assess Capabilities to Connect with Immigrant Populations: There is a growing number of foreign-born residents, foreign-born residents without citizenship, and residents with limited English proficiency throughout the service area. This trend originated with the 2021 assessment, was continued in the 2022 update, and remains a prominent theme of the data with this 2023 update. The majority of these individuals originate from Latin American or Asian nations. HOPES should review staffing levels and capabilities to provide services to these populations, including bilingual individuals that are representative of the languages spoken by these immigrant populations newly arrived in the United States. One interesting anomaly to the data is Secaucus, where there are more than 1,000 new foreign-born residents from 2020 to 2021, and the percent of the population composed of foreign-born residents increased by 9.8% during that time, along with more than 400 new residents with limited English proficiency, a 17.7% increase. However, the number and percentage of residents with limited English proficiency who identify Spanish as their primary language declined in Secaucus, suggesting a different immigrant population is settling there. These anomalies likely exist elsewhere in the service area, and demonstrate that HOPES must be able to incorporate new services for different populations, including as population compositions shift from year to year.

Develop New Partnerships to Target New Populations: To connect with these new target populations, HOPES should review its existing partnerships and identify new partners that can help facilitate outreach activities. Cultural and ethnic-specific groups, municipal governments, and other local organizations are ideal partners in spreading the word about HOPES programs and services and deepening its connections to the service area. This recommendation was made in the 2021 assessment and 2022 update, and continues to apply as the need for services is growing across the service area, especially among minority, immigrant, and/or limited English proficient populations.

- Gross Rent as a Percentage of Income

Table 72 shows the number and percent of households where the rent paid exceeds 30% of household income in 2020 and 2021, as well as the total change and percent change over the past year. GRAPI is a technical term for “house poor,” and the higher the concentration of households exceeding 30% GRAPI, the greater need for supportive services or more affordable housing.
